The Mexican Wreck.

By Southern Associated Press. By Southern Associated Press.

Sr. Louis, March 2.—A City of Mexico special says that the Mexican Government has begun a rigid examination of trainmen and officials of the Inter-Oceanic ratiroad in an attempt to fix the culpability of the terrible railway disaster of Thursday. The anginest continues Thursday. The engineer, conduc-tor and brakeman were examined yesterday.

The engineer was John Neufer and the conductor J. H. Steele, both Americans. The Chief of Police of Tenango, with some mounted rurales, had the bodies of the dead laid out on the bank for identification on the arrival of the relief train and refused to permit them to be brought to the city, awaiting complete official examination of the scene of the wreek. The bodies, terribly mangled, he decaying in the sun, piled up like cord-wood. So far as can be ascertained all the killed and wounded were of the lower class.

WASHINGTON, March 2,-Senate. WASHINGTON, March 2.—SENATE.—When the Senate met at 11 a, m, to day it entered upon the last legislative day of the Fifty third Congress, because, although the Congress does not expire till Monday

gress does not expire till Monday next at noon, its existence till then will be continued by recesses, not adjournments.

The only real, pressing work was the passage of the Naval Appropriation bill and action on conference reports in the cases of eight appropriation bills. The Naval bill was taken up, the discussion occupied almost all the time until a recess was taken at 6 p. m. for two hours. The discussion started on the proposition discussion started on the proposition to reduce the number of additional seamen that the Secretary of the Navy might enlist in the next fiscal year from 2,000 to 1,000. That amendment was vigorously contestioned but was finally agreed to year ed but was finally agreed to-yeas, 31; nays, 25.
Other amendments that were con tested were those striking out of the bill items for dry docks and build-ings at naval stations. When the recess was taken the amendment had three to two. The committee amendment—striking out the item for guns for auxiliary cruisers—was agreed to.

House.—The first session of the last day's proceedings in the House of the Firty third Congress lasted from noon until 6 o'clock. Among the measures that were passed by nonlimous consent was the followthe measures that were passed by ing: Senate buil to reimburse officers and seamen for property lost or de stroyed in the naval service of the United States.

Under suspension of the rules a bill was passed to pay the trustees o Washington and Lee University, Va., the sum of $17,484 for use and occapancy of the buildings of the institution by Union troops during the war. Upon this motion an interesting debate occurred, in which Mr. Reed warned the House that the Government could not afford to enter upon the policy of paying claims of this character.

A concurrent resolution was agreed to naming the Secretary of the Treasury, the Superintendent of Coast and Geodetic Survey and the Director of the Mint as a commission to inquire into and repor: to the first session of the Fifty fourth Congress as to the desira bility and expediency of the adoption by the Government of the United States of the metrical sys tem and also as to the prospect of the adoption by leading nations of the world of the metrical system of coinage, weights and measures, At half an hour after midnight the House was preparing to vote upon the Senate amendment appropriating $5,000,000 under the bounty clause of the McKinley law to the sugar growers of the county clause of the McKinley law to the sugar growers of the county clause of the McKinley law to the sugar growers of the county clause of the McKinley law to the sugar growers of the county clause of the coun try. and most important amendment was reached, the one to reduce the number of battleships to be constructed from three to two, Before its being entered upon Mr. Aldrich suggested that as the amendment could not be disposed of to-night and the Senate disposed of to night and the Senate should now take a recess for an hour, to give time for the Sandry Civil bill to be received from the House and then take a recess until 11 a, m. To this proposition Mr. Gorman indicated his assent, but Mr. Peffer preferred that he should go on with the speech which he had desired to deliver against the proposed increase of the navy. Mr. Butler asked him to yield for the "Pooling bill," but he positively declined and at 1:45 began his speech, having before him a large supply of material for it.
